Contents

Introduction v

Part 1 | Know Your Customers 11

Your Audience's Expectations 13
Know Your Audience 15
A Mile in Their Shoes 17
Americans Treasure Choices 19
CEO Hot Buttons 21
Insult One Group to Woo Another? 23
Purple Cows and Brown Ones 25
Gender Differences in Shopping 27
Surprising Gender Senders 29
Do You Really Know Your Customers? 31
Never Sell to Androids 33
Wooing One Important Customer 35
High-Value Marketing 37
What People Say Vs. What They Do 39
Picture Your Customer 41
Use Customers' Words 43

Part 2 | Establishing Value 45

Reputation Pays 47
They Don't Value What I Do! 49
Sell to Those Who Grasp Your Value 51
Your Value, Understood, Part I 53
Your Value, Understood, Part II 55
When They Don't Get It 57

Part 3 | Reasons for Buying 59

Using Hot Button Appeals 61
Multiple Hot Buttons 63
Emotional Reasons for Buying 65
Cherchez le Sentiment 67
Today's Upscale Motivators 69
Customer Convenience as a Lure 71
Four Ways to Discover Hot Buttons 73
Discover Distinctive Reasons to Buy 75
Not Obvious, Not Shared 77
Creating More Reasons to Buy 79
Rethink Your Rationale? 81
Analyze Purchasing Triggers 83

Part 4 | Persuasive Techniques 85

Selling Through Consequences 87
Make the Consequences Explicit 89
Convince Us! 91
Surprise, Surprise 93
The Power of Suspense 95
Get Them Involved 97
The Point, Please! 99

Important But Not Urgent 101
Use the News 103
Expand Your Repertoire of Offers 105
Narrow Their Options 107
The Literary Agent Reversal 109
No More Rejection! 111
To Persuade, Prepare 113
Be Yourself–Dressed Up 115
Your Address Sends a Message 117

Part 5 | Approaches That Can Backfire 119

The Fly in the Offer 121
Should You Exaggerate? 123
Be Believable 125
Don't Reject Questions 127
Incentives and Identity 129
Latest = Greatest? 131
Show Your Heart? 133
Beware Secondary Passions 135
The "One Up" Factor 137

Part 6 | Pricing Psychology 139

Consider Posting Your Service Prices 141
How to Pull Off Higher Prices 143
Stay Firm on Your Fees 145
Pricing You Can Live With 147
Some Pricing Principles 149
Offer Pricing Options 151
Mental Mistakes About Pricing 153
Pricing Psychology Quirks 155

Take the Pain Out of Prices 157

Part 7 | Keeping Customers 159

Eliminate Ordering Obstacles 161
Head Off Buyer's Remorse 163
Should You Guilt-Trip Customers? 165
Your Client's Inner Child 167
Tossing in a Lagniappe 169
What's Next? 171
Want Fries With That? 173
Each Customer is Unique 175

Recommended Books 177

Get the Whole Series! 179

Index 181

About the Author 185